More on Learning Topics...

1. This is a maximum 90-minute class that can be adapted to shorter time frames. It is taught by American Mental Wellness Association instructors. The "Understanding Your Anxiety for Elementary Children" booklet and curriculum created and developed by AMWA.

2. This is a PowerPoint presentation that includes two short videos. Participants learn about the brain, how it functions, the value of brain health, and the components involved in living a healthy, happy life.

3. This is a Power Point Presentation. Participants learn about mental health issues, identifying signs and symptoms in themselves, or friends and colleagues, from first stage of the medical condition through the fourth stage. Additionally, participants learn how to access help early.

4. Youth MHFA teaches adults how to identify, understand, and respond to signs of mental health challenges which includes substance misuse in youth ages 11 to 18. This training gives adults the skills to reach out and provide initial support to young people who may be developing a mental health challenge or experiencing a mental health crisis, and helps connect them to appropriate care. The course provides a mnemonic device to assist you in providing mental health first aid. Statistics prior to COVID show 50% of mental health issues beginning between the ages of 11 and 18, with 75% between the ages of 11 and 25 years of age. These statistics are increasing because of the pandemic.

5. Adult MHFA teaches adults how to identify, understand, and respond to signs of a mental health challenge (includes substance misuse) in other adults. This class provides adults with the skills to reach out and provide initial support to someone who may be developing a mental health challenge or experiencing a mental health crisis, and helps connect them to appropriate care. The course provides a mnemonic device to assist you in providing mental health first aid. Statistics prior to COVID show one in five people per year experience a mental health challenge. These statistics are increasing because of the pandemic.

6. The Mental Health Fair can be presented to school students, faculty, and staff; or it can be provided as an employee or community event. "Thanks for caring so much about us!" are words often said by the students to the vendors. The fair has been very well received by students, employees and communities,
